Occupational Therapy Service

What is Occupational Therapy?

- To provide tailored assessments and trainings for children with learning difficulties, developmental delay, gross motor or fine motor delay in order to improve children's learning ability, fine motor development and self-care ability.
- Trainings consist of sensory integration, fine motor, visual perception, attention, executive function, prewriting, handwriting, self-care and activity of daily life.

Objectives

- To provide early identification and intervention for children with special educational needs by delivering tailored trainings and to increase the therapeutic effectiveness.
- To promote the development of the children's sensory integration, gross motor, fine motor, and visual perception, and thus enhance their handwriting and self-care ability.
- To relieve the children's emotional stress induced by learning difficulties and developmental delay, and to help them building up positive self-image.

Service Targets

- Children and teenagers who are suspected of or diagnosed with learning difficulties, developmental delay, sensory integration disorder, gross motor or fine motor delay.
